The VLUV project is the latest development from HOCK - Style in Motion. The company develops stylish products from the areas of movement and living.

VLUV is the latest creation from HOCK. The first seating ball made of wool felt brings together comfort, young design and healthy sitting. The idea for VLUV was born when we saw an unsightly neon colored PVC ball lying in a high-end design office. Why not develop a natural cover for such a ball? This way a sitting ball becomes a design object. Healthy sitting becomes a natural, comfortable affair. Of course, VLUV can also be used for gymnastics exercises or just to romp around with.

For the production of the articles only the best raw materials are used, if possible from local sources. Due to the regional, environmentally friendly and chemical-free production, we distinguish ourselves from other products on the market by a considerable distance.

Hock products exude perfection, timelessness and elegance. They are a love affair between form and function. The result is: clarity, authenticity and functionality.
