

Powerline leg press PLPX

The Powerline PLPX leg press for the Powerline P2X multistation is designed for exercise variation, comfort and safety. This optional leg press is a great way to optimize your home gym. The precision-machined pillow block bearings provide smooth movement and tighter tolerances, and the side stability grips provide a firm grip. The 2:1 weight ratio allows for a doubling of resistance, and the advanced technology eliminates ankle strain and provides consistent resistance throughout the range of motion. Rotation of the pivoting pressure plate is both downward and forward to target glutes, hamstrings and thighs.
