Some athletes want a calorie-free drink during sport and therefore drink water. However, when sweating, the body not only loses water, but also electrolytes such as sodium, which plays a crucial role in maintaining a balanced fluid balance. Excessive drinking during long-term exercise - without salt intake - can lead to overhydration.

That's why our Active LIQUIDS: ZERO are the right alternative for you, especially if you're in the "shaping" phase and don't want to sacrifice taste - but calories.

Do you suffer from lactose intolerance, coeliac disease or are you vegan? Even then, Active LIQUIDS ZERO are the right alternative!
