Resistance and movement

22 resistance levels that you can set digitally make this cross trainer a device on which you can vary the intensity without affecting your movement. It is not just the weight of the flywheel that is important for the quality of the movement. The entire mechanism and the movement itself must also be taken into consideration. Effective Inertia takes this into account. With the NordicTrackreg: C9.9, we provide you with first-class movement.

11kg Effective Inertia

Designed for incredibly smooth performance, this 11kg flywheel delivers a smoother, more natural workout feel. All NordicTrack cross trainers are equipped with Silent Magnetic Resistance (SMR).

0-20° incline

Change the incline - at the touch of a button. Burn more calories and train specific muscle groups.

Adjustable large pedals

Customize the fit and feel of your workout by choosing from three pedal settings to optimize the toe-to-toe heel angle while maintaining traction control for a stable, relaxed motion.
