Weight gainers are by no means all the same. There are inferior products that contain heaps of granulated sugar and are not a useful dietary supplement.

The composition of Gain Tech from All Stars is completely different! The carbohydrates come from oats and barley with low glycemic effects.

The sugar content in this mass building product is less than 2% in all flavors. Overall, All Stars Gain Tech contains fewer carbohydrates and more protein than other weight gainers. The moderate and qualitative energy supply promotes clean mass building without unnecessary fat storage.

- for lean mass building
- over 35% high-quality protein
- low and medium glycemic index carbohydrates
- aspartame-free
- less than 2% sugar and no empty calories
