

Weider Pancake Mix 600g

The Weider Protein Pancake Mix contains with 35% significantly more protein than comparable products, which often contain just about 20% protein. Whey protein and egg protein are used as protein sources. Both types of protein contain particularly many essential amino acids and have a high biological value. This means that your body can absorb and use the protein particularly well. Protein is one of the most important macronutrients for a successful diet or muscle building.

The contained oatmeal provides your body with complex carbohydrates and thus supplies it with the necessary energy - without making you fat. To make the Weider Protein Pancake Mix a really special pancake mix, the patented ModCarb is used. A cereal mix with amaranth and the superfood quinoa. This ensures a low glycemic index and especially many polyunsaturated fatty acids.

The Weider Protein Pancake Mix is therefore a quickly prepared, wholesome pancake mix. It provides your body with a lot of protein, high-quality carbohydrates and polyunsaturated fatty acids.
