

Fitwood Stool LUOTO birch

The LUOTO stool is a versatile companion for our popular LUOTO climbing bow. Together they make a beautiful workstation ideal for 6- to 11-year-old children, but that's not all. When you turn it upside down, it transforms into a target for throwing balls, adding an exciting element of active play to your child's daily routine. Like his eponymous climbing arch, LUOTO stool is designed to be a timeless piece of furniture that complements any room in the house and is not only suitable for the nursery.

In addition to its function as a stool and target for children, the abstract composition of LUOTO allows it to be used, for example, as a small side table, plant stand or bedside table. When used as a target, LUOTO helps develop children's hand-eye coordination and supports diverse muscle development. Used as a workstation with the LUOTO climbing arch, the two create a perfect setup for activities such as crafts and drawing, which are great for developing your child's fine motor skills, creativity and concentration. With its many features and carefully crafted streamlined design, the LUOTO stool is a product that is always changing and adapting to new purposes.

The FitWood Stool LUOTO can be used as:

- Stool to FitWood Climbing Arch LUOTO (in use as a table).
- as a goal for ball games
- small side table
- bedside table
- plant stand
