

Fitwood Stool LUOTO beige

The LUOTO stool is a versatile companion for our popular LUOTO climbing bow. Together they make a lovely workstation that's ideal for 6 to 11-year-olds, but that's not all. Turn it upside down and it transforms into a target for throwing balls, adding an exciting element of active play to your child's daily routine. Like its climbing arch of the same name, the LUOTO stool is designed to be a timeless piece of furniture that complements any room in the house and is not just for the nursery.

In addition to its function as a stool and target for children, the abstract composition of LUOTO allows it to be used as a small side table, plant stand or bedside table, for example. When used as a target, LUOTO helps to develop children's hand-eye coordination and supports diverse muscle development. As a workstation with the LUOTO climbing arch, the two create a perfect setup for activities such as crafts and drawing, which are great for developing your child's fine motor skills, creativity and concentration. With its many functions and carefully crafted, streamlined design, the LUOTO stool is a product that keeps changing and adapting to new purposes.

The FitWood Stool LUOTO can be used as:

- Chair for FitWood climbing arch LUOTO (used as a table)
- as a goal for ball games
- small side table
- bedside table
- plant stand
